

2017 HOTEL AND GAMING COMPENSATION REPORT

INTRODUCTION SOURCE OF INFORMATION

2017 Compensation Surveys was revised in October 2017. The outcomes were accumulated from a comprehensive information analysis extracted from Renard International's own database of 45,000 candidates and supplemental 15,000 contacts. The sources also included written answers to our global survey sent to Executives in over 50 countries.

The data was also taken from thousands of resumes received monthly by Renard offices and Consultants worldwide, which confirms in writing individuals current remuneration, benefits, bonuses, etc.

They also signpost desired salary, benefits, preferred location and ideal role.

Some of the salary ranges in this guide are based on actual transactions between employers and employees of Renard International and represent a true reflection of the job marketplace.

In 2015 alone, Renard Consultants successfully completed assignments in over 40 countries from Culinary to the CEO of a major Hotel/Casino Group. We have now assisted Clients in nations that were non-existent when we commenced business 47 years ago.

Our Remuneration Reviews are produced using an average format in which the information is totaled and divided by the number of replies, or, in a median format, which is calculated using data mid-range to extremes.

We hope this guide will serve as a useful tool for your talent compensation planning.

AROUND THE HIRING WORLD - OCTOBER 2017

JAPAN

Japan has had the best investment returns and occupancies in the last 24 months than it has had in the last decade. Business has picked up, rates have improved greatly; the only negativity is the threats from North Korea and people still remember the Tsunami and the aftermath of the leaks from the nuclear plant. There are more opportunities for expatriates in Japan than in the last decade. The requirements are for either; Asian experienced, Japanese experienced or Japanese language speakers. Sales & Marketing, Food & Beverage and Restaurant management with some culinary opportunities are on the hot list.

HONG KONG

The real estate market in Hong Kong over the last 24 months has improved due to asset price increases and buyers plans to convert hotels to other usage. I remember years ago that a GM opened a hotel in Hong Kong and then closed it to be converted to condominiums and then the owners changed their mind and re-opened it as a hotel. Hong Kong is stimulated by the Mainland Chinese Tourism. Opportunities are available in most levels, especially Michelin Star culinarians as well as to the Food & Beverage Directors....they love Cantonese or Mandarin speakers with experience outside of the region.

USA

Since Donald Trump has taken over as President, the hotel industry is doing great. Growth and occupancy have been up all over the board especially in secondary cities which until recently had shown little improvement. The exceptions are the recent hurricanes and flood ravaged States of Texas and Florida. Opportunities exist in the luxury talent brand especially Culinaricians, Pastry Chefs and Sales Executives or Middle Management staff i.e.; Executive Housekeeper, etc., none to be found anywhere!

CARIBBEAN & MEXICO

With the on-slot of the hurricanes and earthquakes in the region, the market has collapsed and so is in flux. We will not know for the next 6 months the exact amount of damage, not only to hotel assets; but also to the tourism market throughout the Caribbean. Those who are left standing are trying to make the best of the upcoming season. Even if their island was not totally damaged the perception is that it was. The job market is uncertain as many employed in the region are finding themselves either without a role; or on standby waiting new opening dates of their resorts. Mexico did not suffer hurricane damage; but from an earthquake in Mexico City. Cancun will gain this winter season as it was untouched. If you speak Spanish and are with luxury hotel background let's talk!

UNITED KINGDOM

Brexit, Brexit. The future is anyone's guess as no one knows the total impact; so investment money is sitting on the sidelines. The real estate prices are way up as the pound dropped against other currencies inviting overseas buyers. The fact that there may be no further influx of European hotel or culinarians may mean greater opportunities for locals and others with UK status who are now overseas. Salaries in the UK are generally higher than their counterparts in Europe, but taxes and cost of living equal out.

MIDDLE EAST/UAE AND AFRICA

With the current political fighting among members of the UAE the outlook is tentative. Qatar is standing alone and hoping the Political issues will not affect their economy. The UAE continues to open more hotels and by September 2017 the reported hotels and rooms recently opened or under construction is approximately 200,000 rooms. There are still 150,000 rooms and over 550 hotels under contract to open in the UAE, Qatar and Saudi. In Africa 56,000 rooms and 300 hotels are under contract to open. With so much construction going on the next question is, how do you find staff for these new hotels? Especially in Saudi Arabia where "Saudiization" restricts visas.

MACAU

Macau has unveiled new hotels in 2017 and has surpassed the gambling revenues of Las Vegas again and again. Business has been on an upturn although occupancies have not climbed from 2016. There is a constant need for Mandarin speakers in all departments especially culinary. Of course, USA trained Casino Executives command a premium and top level income.

RUSSIA

First Syria, second Ukraine = Rubble Sinking.

With the ruble now stabilized but ongoing political issues with the USA and Europe, hoteliers there are getting used to the situation. Business remains stable in the major cities, however, only a few expats are hired and many are leaving. The reason is they are now unfordable or they will not accept a salary decrease as the weakening rubles makes expats extremely expensive. Fewer international visitors also decreases the need for expats.

INDIA

With recent currency changes in 2017 although ADR is up as is business is not India's occupancy has not rebounded in 2017 to the extent people would have liked. The increase in rooms available has led to greater competition for talent. Senior management opportunities are consistently available for European expatriates if affordable who want to live and work in India. More internationally trained Indian nationals have been persuaded to return home by attractive semi expat-style packages.

CHINA

China is the wildcard! Who knows which direction business will take? Some industries are in contraction and government policy on luxury spending has not helped. Saying that, the hotel industry is still active in secondary cities. Primary cities such as Shanghai and Beijing suffer from over building and pollution related issues. Mandarin speakers have many opportunities in primary and secondary cities. Chinese citizens with hotel experience outside of China are the "toast of the town" If you are willing to go to secondary cities you'll have no problem finding career options with top luxury brands.

SOUTH EAST ASIA

Watch out for Vietnam, Korea and Indonesia. With their large population and current needs moving forward with solid local and regional business. Mandarin speakers with international experience or Michelin Star culinary history are highly sought after. Many mid-management roles are now filled locally; but GM, F&B and DOSM for luxury or lifestyle brands are hot! Many clients say they want 1) No "job hoppers" 2) No children as the cost of education is through the roof and 3) and no to those who want Asia just for a "change of lifestyle".

EASTERN EUROPE

Improvement is on the horizon. New openings in Poland and other East Bloc countries are bringing focus to areas that has been dormant for a while as investment is now returning. There is a major shortage of those with good opening experience at all levels of management and willing to move to some countries in this region.

CANADA

New York City has more 4 & 5* hotels than in all of Canada! Development in the hotel industry is mainly in condominium funded hotels, mid-range limited service and boutique style individually owned hotels and resorts. Casinos seem to be the bright light with open budgets for high-end hoteliers and Casino Management. Recently there is a shortage of Asian Chefs and top level Ritz Carlton, Four Seasons executives. First time arrivals have no fun; hard to break in due to limited opportunities except in the kitchen.

SCANDINAVIA

The accommodation business is rolling along with excellent occupancies and little foreign hiring as high taxation are not appealing to expatriates. Local business is the savior. Non-financially driven executives and those who are sales driven or speak the local languages do best. Returning residents are always welcome as there are many jobs available.

MALDIVES/SEYCHELLES

Maldives and Seychelles are doing well. More and more inventory is coming on the market with little or no effect on the occupancies. Small salaries for small hotels. Staffing is challenging to find; there is a "cruise line affect" where staff complete their contract never to return. Talented people have choices and small islands are not long-term; especially for families or people desiring lifestyle. These locations are best for young aspiring executive who want their first-big title. These small resorts cannot compete with major cities or larger resorts compensation wiser either. Vacancies in all categories are available to interested parties.

WESTERN EUROPE

Even with the strain of immigrants and terrorists threats. In 2017 occupancies have gone up and rates have excelled due to the rebirth of tourism as people have a short memory when it comes to forgetting natural disasters and political and terrorist issues. Many parts of Europe are doing well like Hungary and Czech Republic and others for political reasons are definitely not. Hoteliers from around the world of European decent as they age will wish to return home for family reasons. Perhaps the time is not right yet. Many jobs are available in Germany and Western Europe. Spain and Portugal are doing well and watch out for hotels and casinos on Cape Verde Islands.

In the Far East most full service hotels are larger than anywhere globally, except perhaps UAE. The trend here, even in three and four-star hotels, is hotels in excess of 400 rooms. Budget and suite hotel groups (long-term-stay properties) have tripled in last 5 years, especially limited service models like Holiday Inn Express and IBIS Properties.

ALERTS
Due to Hurricanes in October 2017 the Caribbean including Puerto Rico, (USA) the staffing requirements are now decimated.

Notes & Comments

This survey is for generally expatriate-paid jobs. Most Caribbean islands hire expats for a variety of roles in the luxury brands. Still many islands due to work visa restrictions will offer these same roles to qualified local residents. Therefore, some local professionals are paid the same salaries as expatriates, but not always with the same benefits as expatriate employees. Locals pay tax where applicable; as expatriates have taxes paid for them. Expatriates can always also be hired where the island has not enough local workers available to fill hotel or restaurant management needs. The higher salaries (highest reported) are generally from casino hotels or "very high end" Leading Hotels of the World" or "Trophy Resorts". Some of these have less than 50 keys and an average room of over $1000/night. Strangely enough, the higher the room rate did not always equate to higher salaries for staff. In some cases, they were on the bottom of the salaries paid. The survey was complicated as independent privately owned resorts pay salaries as to what they "feel like" without concern for budgets or any salary ranges. Private owners who run resorts themselves do not disclose their true salaries or funds they take personally or from the operation either.

** Most resorts in Caribbean are small and have less than 200 rooms except in Bahamas where some go up to 2000 rooms like Atlantis and soon to open Bahamar. Salaries in Bahamas are "stand-alone" as these large properties in Nassau offer very unique career opportunities and salaries. Visas in the Bahamas are difficult and the cost of living is very high as opposed to other islands whose visa restrictions are less stringent.

+ Sometimes can be called EAM/Rooms or EAM/F&B deputies for GM.

• Gratuities not included.

~ Most local hires instead of expat hires due to visa restrictions.

* The soon to open Bahamar has will have great effect on this survey for 2018

ALERTS
Neither Brexit nor recent terrorists action in October 2017 have seriously changed the hiring pattern so far.

For the last 12 months, the UAE hiring has “flat lined”. With many new openings hiring has continued aggressively but no massive salary increases except for some specialty operations. The UAE allows employees to move from one employer to another therefore more incestuous recruitment and recently with little increases except for cost of living.

The region continues to draw largely European and Asian Senior Managers, with Rank and File expatriate staff from the developing world.

Standard expatriate benefits include live-in or housing allowance, medical. Bonuses are not included.

The informant respondents are from the top 40, 4 and 5-star hotels in UAE. It includes all expatriates including India, Philippines, Switzerland, Europe, North America, etc. Bonuses vary from 1 to 2 months, some up to 40% of base salary.

+ Average room rates for 2016-2017 have not increased but decreased.

* General Manager title and responsibilities only. There was a General Manager/Vice President in Dubai earning almost US$ 550,000 annual salary in 2016, but who recently left his role.

** F&B only, no other responsibilities, single unit.

*** Most repeated comments were that cost of living increases, especially housing have caused uneasiness; an issue from employers' and employees' perspective in negotiating new contracts or extensions and the high cost of schooling (a 15% increase in 2016-2017).

WORLDWIDE SPA SURVEY 2017

Historically, spa operations were treated by management as similar to other revenue departments like food and beverage or telephone. These departments were simply perceived to be amenities needed to attract guests to the hotel. As long as these departments broke even, or didn't lose too much money, their ability to increase occupancy was deemed sufficient justification for their existence. However, in the last ten years, hotel spas have followed the path of the other operating departments and transformed from support facilities to profit centers.

From 2011 to 2016, Renard International's poll showed that when spas are operating in conjunction with a hotel, they represented 12.2% of sales. (See Renard Spa Dictionary of all terms used in spa treatments at www.renardnewsletter.com in the article archives)

INTRODUCTION TO COMPENSATION IN THE GAMING INDUSTRY - OCTOBER 2017

At the intersection of politics, travel and hospitality, sits the Global Gaming Industry.

Of the 193 recognized countries on this planet some form of Gaming exists in over 70% of the world's nations from Albania to Nigeria from Brazil to the game reserves of Africa. Some form of gaming is therefore available to over 70% of the world's population who are now possible customers.

Gaming has become a significant global partner of the hospitality industry. It has therefore become essential to understand and include gaming in any discussion of the world hospitality. For example; the revenue per square foot in gaming far exceed by many times that of any other hospitality product. The compensation offered a senior executive in successful publically held gaming companies have made middle and senior managers who have received regular stock or options a millions many times over.

There is one casino hotel in S.E. Asia whose rooms profit is greater than the entire profit of one of the world's top American luxury hotel brands.

In 1995 when we researched our first Gaming Compensation Study, the report was restricted solely to Las Vegas and Atlantic City. Online Gambling was non-existent.

22 years later, much has changed. Online gambling is the fastest growing gaming product worldwide, and experts predict its revenue for 2017 to be over 10 billion US dollars.

In our 2017 report, we examine total cash compensation for senior executives. We have formulated our surveys using data from almost 100 gaming corporations. Our sources include self-reports and tax filings from public companies, personal resources, direct requirements from searches we have received, along with our salary survey data, which we solicited.

Our most noteworthy comment in 2017 on gaming is that it has taken us "one step closer to global acceptance," adding new locations in 2016 such as Cyprus, Albania, Cape Verde, Massachusetts (Boston), India (State of Maharashtra), Israel (soon to be approved), Gibraltar, Saipan and Montenegro.

Overall, almost every state in the USA, all provinces in Canada, and over 35 countries now offer some form of legalized gambling. There are over 220 gaming jurisdictions, including parts of Macau, Singapore, Malaysia, Bahamas, Philippines, Saipan, Korea, Netherlands, Antilles, UK, Switzerland and Vietnam.

As part of this growth, the need for experienced casino management talent has become both extremely competitive and cutthroat, especially for difficult postings in faraway countries. As a result, pressure to adequately compensate executives continues to be a major factor. Most of the major publically listed casino organizations even offer their key employees stock or stock options.

Will every location soon have a gaming establishment next door? Why not? As governments desire these huge tax windfalls, from the gambling business.

Another notable observation is that even though the revenue pie from gaming increased substantially in 2015, it is now shared with more operators. Additionally, historic venues such as Las Vegas and Macau did not increase their revenue significantly. In fact, these hubs lost some of their leading share of the global gaming revenue pie.

An aspect of our study worth noting is the major difference in compensation between large and small players in the gaming industry, and between those which are publically listed as opposed to those which are privately held.

For example, a CEO of a small, privately-held gaming group may earn a base salary, bonus and stock totaling $500k (USD), compared to a large, publically listed organization where the CEO may earn in excess of $20M (USD).

For 2016, we did not consider any Black-Schole evaluations, where the value of the stock granted in previous years had substantially higher or lower value than the year it was granted.

Another consideration: in previous years, there was a separation of income by country and venue. With the increased worldwide growth of casinos, salaries are now more aligned with less distinction.

In previous years, we also focused primarily on major North American gaming areas. In 2016, we have added in-depth information on international casino groups, although many are still USA-controlled. This year, we also took special notice of SE Asian gaming establishments in Malaysia, Macau, Vietnam and the Philippines.

The location and size of casinos matter with regards to basic compensation levels. On the other hand, bonuses remain fairly consistent as a percentage of base salaries. In other words, many companies offer higher base incomes, however their bonus percentages (i.e. 25% - 50% of the base) remain consistent.

As the gaming industry grows, the escalation of pay seems inevitable. What does this mean for gaming companies?

The answer: higher payrolls, greater utilization of computerization, higher incentives and the overwhelming need to retain management talent. The catalyst for this is specialized US gaming, which is prevalent almost everywhere and adheres to the most stringent legal hiring requirements for gaming licenses. Overall, the majority of key casino employees hail from the USA** or Canada, which we call the Renard Birdcage Effect*. On the other hand, operation executives (non-gaming executives) can come from a more diverse range of places around the world.

As a result of worldwide casino growth, including many with no USA affiliation, American gaming consultants are training local executives. Therefore a non-American casino corporation rather than hiring more expensive American casino management, these casinos can now employ locals with the ability to operate American-style casinos.

Our overall opinion is that 2018 (like 2018) will continue to be a global scavenger hunt for these American-trained casino executives. Additionally, incestuous employment policies along with engagement bonuses will continue to be the norm.

Notes:

- * The Renard Birdcage Effect refers to shaking the birdcage, causing the birds to change perches (talent moves from one company to another), however they are the same birds.
- ** American citizens or green-card casino executives (even offshore) pay some USA taxes, therefore American citizens are not tax-free and require financial incentives to recruit.
